

Sherri Corey, Senior Community Advisor, Quality Health Network

Sherri Corey is the Senior Community Advisor at Quality Health Network (QHN) in Grand Junction, Colorado. Sherri has more than 20 years of progressive experience in the healthcare industry and practice management. Her current role focuses on supporting relationships with prospective and current QHN participants to leverage the utilization of QHN systems to improve care coordination and patient outcomes. During her tenure at QHN, Sherri worked as an advisor with the Office of the National Coordinators (ONC) on a variety of projects, and was part of the Regional Extension Center (REC) project, which served to support and provide resources to assist providers in EHR implementation and the meaningful use (MU) process. Sherri holds a certification in Sales Excellence in Strategic Selling and Conceptual Selling. She serves on many clinical advisory committee workgroups and co-chairs the board at West Mountain Regional Health Alliance.
